Ms Swiggers has a background in molecular biology and more fundamental research at the Rotterdam Erasmus University in The Netherlands. After leaving the lab behind she entered the pharmaceutical regulatory field. At first in drug product regulatory affairs, thereafter switching to drug substance. At Aspen she's involved in the registration of API's in many countries worldwide and providing regulatory support to customers for registration of their drug products, with an additional focus on the changing legislation regarding API registration in Brazil.

How to register APIs in Brazil

Live Online Training on 28 February 2023 from 10:30 - 16:00 h CET

Highlights

- How to handle Brazilian registrations
- Content of the registration file
- Handling changes in Brazil
- Obtaining the Brazilian GMP certificate

Programme

Objectives / Background

Since August 2020, the "CADIFA Manual of Administrative Procedures" of the Brazilian Health Regulatory Agency (Anvisa) is valid and needs to be followed for API dossiers. Now, the new version of the "CADIFA Manual" is published and available in Portuguese and in English language.[1]

According to the agency, the DIFA (Active Pharmaceutical Ingredient dossier) must be submitted to Anvisa by the DIFA holder to receive a CADIFA (letter of suitability of the active pharmaceutical ingredient). It shows the compliance of a DIFA with the regulatory requirements. A valid CADIFA and GMP certificate are necessary for the approval of an associated marketing authorization or post-approval change application.[1]

The understanding of Brazilian Registration Procedures for APIs is thus important to know. This Live Online Training provides an overview of the regulatory and GMP requirements for registering APIs in Brazil and obtaining the Brazilian GMP certificate.
